

Question	Reflective Writing Task
100% A	As for B, plus demonstrates exceptional comprehension of programming concepts and constructs and engages with the literature (more than 3 references) and evidence of reading beyond the key programming concepts and constructs introduced in the module.
70% B	A critical reflection. Shows sound knowledge and clear understanding of programming concepts and constructs. Has engaged with the literature (3 references). Personal learning experience is supported by concrete references to the literature of programming concepts and constructs
60% C	Shows evidence of relevant knowledge and understanding of programming concepts and constructs Has partially engaged with the literature (<3 references). Personal learning experience somewhat is partially supported by relevant references to the literature of programming concepts and constructs
50% D	Reproduces basic knowledge of programming concepts and constructs covered in the module. Some engagement with the literature (<1 references). Some attempt to support personal learning experience with references to the literature.
40% E	Signs of emerging knowledge of basic programming concepts and constructs. Some engagement with the literature (<1 references). Weak or little attempt to support personal learning experience with references to the literature.
< 40% F	Weak or no evidence of basic knowledge of programming concepts and constructs but insufficient for progression.